DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 32-49 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over WO91/15197 in view of Ruberto et al and Jacobsson et al for the reasons given in Paper No. 3.

WO 91/15197 (page 2, lines 21-29, page 7, example 2) discloses mixture of amoxycillin- clavulanate having a ratio of amoxycillin to clavulanate of 7:1.

Ruberto et al (abstract, lines 1-4, page 169, left column, paragraphs 3 and 4) discloses twice daily dosing of amoxycillin-clavulanic acid in children having urinary tract infection at a dosage of 40 mg/kg/day and 20 mg/kg/day of amoxycillin.

Jacobsson et al (abstract, lines 1-5, page 320, left column, fourth full paragraph) discloses twice daily dosing of amoxycillin-clavulanic acid using a mixture having a 4:1 ratio to children having otitis media at a dosage of 26.6 mg/kg.

The instant claims differ over the references in reciting a mixture of amoxycillin-clavulanate having a dosage amount of $45 \pm 10\%$ mg/kg and $6.4 \pm 10\%$ mg/kg of clavulanate. However, allowing for the \pm in the instant ratio, it can change to 5.9.

Art Unit: 1614

In the absence of a showing of unexpected results, no unobviousness is seen in instantly recited ratio. One would be motivated to use the instantly recited ratio of 7:1 over 4:1 of Jacobsson because it is desirable to use as little medication as possible.

Applicants' argument that WO 91/15197 does not address pediatric dosage amounts is not persuasive. WO 91/15197 discloses a liquid preparation, and it is well-known in the art that a liquid preparations is preferable over a tablet for pediatric use. Furthermore, it discloses that a unit dose may contain 125 mg, which would be a pediatric dose.

Applicants' argument that Ruberto teaches away from the twice daily dosage of the present method is not persuasive, since the prescriber would be motivated to use twice daily dosing for convenience and would only consider changing to thrice daily dosing if the patient developed side effects.

Applicants' argument that Jacobsson discloses a higher rate of adverse events in the b.i.d. group compared with the t.i.d. group is not persuasive, since the prescriber would be motivated to use twice daily dosing for convenience and would only consider changing to thrice daily dosing if the patient developed side effects.

The following references are considered cumulative and are no longer applied: 4,537,887 (Rooke et al), GB 2,005,538, Aguedas et al, Feldman et al.
